THE FREEHOLDER and COMMERCIAL ADVERTISER, a new weekly Commercial, Political, Independent Paper, will be published every Monday evening, price 4d. or 4s. 4d. per quarter.—On MONDAY, March 1, will be commenced, as a Weekly Newspaper, the FREEHOLDER and COMMERCIAL ADVERTISER. As its name indicates, it will, in the first place, be the organ of the great Freehold Land movement. In addition to reporting progress, &c. its pages will be illustrated with engraved plans of the estates purchased by various societies, a weekly list of the prices of rights for allotments, the improved value of allotments, the prices at which allotments have been sold on different estates, notices of building, life insurances, and other societies for the promotion and encouragement of provident habits, &c. But while these and similar topics will have due space—the Freeholder and Commercial Advertiser will form a complete guide as to the occupations of allotments, whether by cub-building or for gardening, or other agricultural purposes. As a commercial paper, it will prove to be one of great importance and value to the trading community, not only as it will present a faithful record of the commercial operations of the previous week, but also reports of all the Monday markets up to the time of going to press. Although the Freeholder and Commercial Advertiser will be the organ of the Freehold Land Movement, it will be a first-rate General Newspaper, independent in principle, and will exert itself to the utmost to bring the elective franchise within the reach of every industrious and virtuous citizen.—Order of any newsvender the Freeholder and Commercial Advertiser.—Office, 193, Strand.

This day is published, price 6d. each, or bound in cloth, complete in One Vol. 3s. 6d.
